

MULTIPLE BIRTH AWARENESS FAMILY FESTIVAL

Ladies,

This is a National event. Last year's festival was in Colorado. It might be many years before it's back in our area again. If possible stay after convention to attend this and have your family join you.

We need at least 3 volunteers from each club to help with the festival—run a carnival game for an hour, sign people in, balloons, set-up, clean up, etc. More than 3 volunteers would be wonderful! (I know our GAMOTC members are going to be worn out after convention.) Some of our distant club members will have to head for home early and won't be able to stay, so we need more volunteers from you local clubs with large memberships. Your older children can volunteer too. Teenagers are good at running the games. Please send me your list of volunteers. We'll start set-up at noon. The festival runs 1:00-4:00. We'll have to clean up afterward. Let me know who can come early or stay late, etc. Many hands will make this easy. Too few will make it a chore.

This is a free event and is open to all multiple birth families, not just our members. Get the word out to all the multiples you know—prospects, former members, co-workers, day care, school, etc. All multiples welcome—babies to adults.

The flyer from NOMOTC is attached. Let's work to make the Texas festival the best for years to come!
